“ Where do I start. I knew George from living in the same town as well as working around him at KAZ. I loaded trucks and George brought the material that needed to be loaded onto the trucks. These are just work memories. My fondest was the time that George with the help of two other people saved my life. I was at a party, got kinda drunk. Went out on the back porch area to talk to the host of the party. Somehow in my drunken stupor I managed to drunk walk my way to the railing. The porch was on the roof of the building. Long story short, I almost walked off the roof. If it weren't for George and the two others forming a human rope, I would've fallen and most likely died. This is my memory.
R.I.P George.
