“ I rarely think of us ( class of 1980 ) in terms of age, rather just a group of amazing diverse people randomly chosen to be together.
Then one of us is suddenly taken without warning, without anyone's permission and the reality of immortality sets in.
It doesn't matter to death, how old you are, or that you're not done living yet.
It's your time to go, to go on to your afterlife. And you'll be with a whole new group of amazing diverse people,
Just randomly chosen to be there together in 2015.
You're missed Greg. And I'm very glad I was one of your friends, from the ageless class of HHS 1980.
