“ I loved talking football with Ken. Tactics, banter, predictions... He was always inquisitive and analytical, never assertive or presumptuous. It was such a pleasure because we were able to go deep without pretense.

He often told me about the kids he was coaching– about their positional play, how they were setting up. It was obvious how he was constantly excited by their potential, both on the field and off. I remember how giddy he was about the reboot of HHS’s uniforms and how closely they resembled the iconic Brazil kit. I suspect he had a hand in that.

He was a kind, gentle man that I am sure will be missed deeply by many. Sending my deep love and support to his family and close friends.

Cheers, Ken. To the Blues... Whichever shade.

“ I remember "Kenny" as this little kid who could not wait to play basketball with me when he saw me at John L. Edwards practicing or playing. He would try so hard to beat me! I loved little "Kenny" because he never got discouraged and would come back and try even harder. Over the years I have often thought about Kenny and I am happy to see that he lived a full life full of much love. Rest In Peace my little friend ! Hopefully we will be able to play again in heaven one day. Your Friend, Reggie Williams HHS class of 1976!

“ Growing up on State St. and with the Hollenbeck family was a blessing and our friendships remained throughout all of these years. The memory most talked about by Mrs. H was the time that I who was only about 6 years old took young Kenny for a walk to my Uncle Joe's house on Prospect St. minus telling anyone where I was heading. A panicked Mrs. Fisher and a panicked Mrs. H. All ended well as I knew where I was heading but boy did I and Kenny give everyone a scare. Well, many dinners and many school memories exist with Kenny, Steven, Jolene and the enduring loving relationship between the Hollenbeck's and Fishers to this day. We are all saddened by Kenny's passing and will continue to cherish all those childhood memories and those moments shared with all of the Hollenbeck family. Prayers for all who loved and knew Kenny at this most difficult time.
