“ I still remember Lea roaming the roads between Hudson and Marist College in Poughkeepsie late one midweek night searching for me, overdue from a night class. I was just late and everything was fine. Her concern and care was what she was always about.

“ Penny Duntz-Haire memoir:

If there was ever a more generous and thoughtful friend whom my folks and siblings had during our youth in Claverack (1947-1972), it was undeniably, Lea. As a child, her familiar smile and gentle touch as a dental assistant was reassuring especially before a dreaded novocaine injection; she induced our excitement and glee when she'd appear at our home with festive trays of baked delights; her holiday parties included us kids in attendance (a welcomed rarity in those earlier times) where we were awed by her festive decorations and glittering Christmas trees that always caught my fancy. Tinsel was artfully hung on every branch tip and in my adult life, I emulate this same wintery "look" with glass ice cycles; the surprise engagement shower she so elegantly hosted for me (and my finance!) that still elicits fond memories of friendship, good food and awesome cake; the reassurance she gave me 40 years later upon my husband's passing - that in time my heart would heal and to live on with an open heart - wise encouragement from an experienced widow herself; the seasonal greeting cards she continued to send throughout her life keeping us connected on her blessings, hardships, recoveries and the love she expressed through admiration for her daughters and their growing families. I will miss her gracious smile and tea social welcome when I venture back home. Without a doubt, Lea was an enduring and compassionate family friend.

“ Laurie and Becky,
I'm sorry to hear about the passing of your mom. We had the pleasure of living next door for a few years and have very fond memories of both her and Mitt. When I think of Lea, I picture her with a warm smile and a gentle tone, always showing patience and caring ways. Whether taking my kids for ice cream, tolerating their “help” with washing her dinner dishes, or simply keeping their company, her kindness always made us feel so warm. Lea was one special lady, that we will never forget.
