“ If I only knew.....I would never hear your voice again,I would cherish your every word....every inflection of your voice....with all my heart. If I only knew....This was our last hug, I would hold you tight and hope never to let you go. If I only knew....This was the last time....I would see you,I would take the time to treasure everything about you. If I only knew your days were coming to an end so abruptly.... I would number them carefully....one by one....and ask god to help me....this is for the best. Mom I just miss you soooooo much and am struggling to understand that our precious Wendesdays with you, Dawn and I will never be again. The last year in a half though were the best times we shared together. I love you so much mommy. I know some day I will see you again. Always Love, Vanessa
