

Marjorie K. MacFarlane

September 14, 1939 - January 20, 2012

Marjorie (Honey) MacFarlane, 72, of Hudson, died at Community Hospice at Columbia Memorial Hospital on Friday, Jan. 20, 2012 after a long illness.

Marge was born Sept. 14, 1939 to the late Maude and Clyde Pulver of Chatham.

She grew up in Chatham on the family farm and attended Chatham Schools. She began a career at the Veteran's Hospital in Albany starting in the laundry department and working her way up to personnel. She retired after 30 years in 1987. She then worked at a dry cleaning store in Schodack until leaving in 1997. She married Scotty MacFarlane in 1977, who predeceased her in 2005.

Marge is survived by two daughters, Kathy Leavitt, with whom she lived, of Hudson, and Sue Adriance of Richlands, NC; three granddaughters, Samantha Adriance of Wilton, Elizabeth Varney of Selkirk, and Melissa Churilla of Richlands; one grandson, Brandon Leavitt of Hudson, and four sisters, Evelyn Fiero and Lillian Anuska, both of Hudson, and Roberta Laurange and April Bergman, both of Chatham. Also surviving are three great-grandsons, Channing Greene of Wilton, Donovan Varney of Selkirk, and Mikey Churilla of Richlands, and four great-granddaughters, Aligail Varney of Selkirk, Sophia and Anna Churilla, both of Richlands, and Epiphany Adriance of Wilton.

She was predeceased by two sisters, Mildred Concile and Marcia Sartori.

Marge was an avid bingo player and loved spending time with her family where she will be sorely missed.

Calling hours are Monday, Jan. 23, 2012 from 4-7 pm at the Bates & Anderson - Redmond & Keeler Funeral Home. Services will take place Tuesday, Jan. 24, 2012 at 9 am at the funeral home. Interment will follow at the family plot in Mellenville. Pall bearers include Richard Leavitt, Brandon Leavitt, James Vandenburg, and Robert Knott.
