“ Well I'm finally going to try and write some words about my Aunt Mary. It's taken me a few days because I'm still crying and hurting on the loss of a beautiful, caring and sincere woman, my Aunt Mary. I remember when she, Uncle Cecil and the kids would visit us at Grandma and Granddad's in Millville, WV. She was such a prim and proper lady. I was always taken back how cute the kids would be dressed. I was really impressed with the twins. Two babies and dressed so adorable! As the years passed, I got to know her even more and more. She was such a funny person to talk to, especially as I got older as well. She was easy to talk with about any of issues. I have had quite a lot of issues in my life, but she would discuss and help me get to the other side of my sorrow, pain and fear. I also got to see the funny side of her like when she visit my husband and I at our home. Well let me say this, I didn't know she really wasn't crazy about animals. Needless to say, the two dogs and two cats were very lovingly attracted to Aunt Mary. Needless to say, from that point forward Aunt Mary and Uncle Cecil and I would meet, shall I say, at a neutral territory. I never forgot this moment and oh yeah! I will NOT be cremated! I will be buried! My stories can go on and on! In closing, I'm crying again because this is it for me to talk to her. She was like my faraway Mom! I always bragged to my WV friends and family about my loving, beautiful, caring, funny, down to earth with a hint of prim and proper New Yorker Italian Aunt! I love you so very, very much Aunt Mary! The Lighted Angel you sent to me is dancing now with the glowing light in your memory Now, Forever, and into the Everlasting! Miss you, Love you, Forever in my heart!
Your niece, Reba (Weasel)
