“ One of the first things I remember about Sandy is when she started working at COI. One day she was sitting at the reception desk and several staff members were near her looking out the front door and chatting. Because of the voices, Sandy was having a hard time hearing people who called on the phone. Trying to be helpful, I told her she was allowed to ask everyone to be quiet. She looked me directly in the eye and said, "Nancy, be quiet!" Sandy had my respect from that moment on. She was truly a sweet, kind and thoughtful lady. She will be missed. My condolences to you and your family, Dean.

“ I will always remember how surprised you were when I found those cassette tape holders for you. You loved listening to those tapes. I will also hold dear the memory of when you would call me when you were listening to them, just to tell me you thought of me. You were a very special lady and will never be forgotten. GOD BLESS.
