“ This is such a sad loss. I recall so many fond things concerning Vince. Both Michèle and I loved to engage in the discussions on politics, technology, philosophy, current events, comparisons of life in the past with today and the advantages and consequences of Both. I recall the years of interactions we had with both Vince and Helen at their vacation home trailer campsite when we were back in the U.S. and during the holidays of Thanksgiving and Christmas both in the U.S. or by speaker-phone from France while we were overseas. Vince remained a wonderful friend with us even after his dear Helen passed away. His sense of humor was infectious and he kept it always, laughing right to his last conversation with us despite his ailment's advanced state. Vince was a loving man and his final thoughts which he expressed to us in Moving emotion, was concern for his children, his grand children and his great grandchildren's future paths without his life's experience and wisdom as input to help them make proper decisions.

Rest well and in Peace dear friend, your life's script has been fulfilled and it was beautiful. You will remain in our hearts and souvenirs for the rest of our natural lives.

Bisous Bisous
